Doctoral & Early Career Program

AoM Atlanta 2017

Are you a doctoral student or early career academic interested in strategy-as- practice research?

Make your AOM experience intimate, inviting and inclusive by joining us in Atlanta as we host an exciting one-day program specially tailored to guide Doctoral & Early Career scholars through the “academic jungle” of SAP research at AoM in Atlanta. There will be opportunities throughout the day to meet and mingle with leading SAP scholars.

It takes place on Friday, August 4th 2017 and includes: kickoff breakfast, registration at 3 carefully selected PDWs, informal mentoring session, Q&A with the program patron, Julia Balogun followed by dinner .*

Coding in the trenches: Qualitative Analysis Boot Camp.

This first PDW was oversubscribed in 2016 – as a program participant you bypass the line and waitlist!

K. Golden-Biddle,
A. Smith
& many more

Visualizing Strategy: How seeing influences saying & doing.

A hands on workshop designed to address the growing interest in topics such as material artefacts & tools; semiotics & discourse; body language & emotions.

E. Knight,
S. Paroutis,
C. Le Baron
& L. Heracleous

Advice for managing international academic careers.

Discuss and discover advice for navigating the waters of global academia. Topics: Juggle family with career; Manage global careers; Work in 2nd language.

L. Cabantous,
S. Mantere,
D. Oliver
& many more

Bonus activities: Individual mentoring sessions & official SAP dinner

Get advice on your research from established SAP scholars before engaging in a lively Q&A session with our patron Prof. Julia Balogun. Your day finishes over dinner with senior SAP scholars and fellow participants. No need to worry about budgets – dinner is covered for program participants!

J. Balogun
& many
'big' SAP scholars

* Final selection of PDWs dependent on final schedule of the academy.

HOW to apply

The program is open to anyone in the early stages of their academic development who is interested in the SAP research agenda & methods.
